DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-57 are drawn to a method of screening a test agent for its ability to cause a thermodynamic change.

Group II, claims 58-59 are drawn to a method of monitoring the physical state of a compound or compositions over time using infrared thermography.

Group III, claims 60-62 are drawn to a method of determining the amount of a compound or composition present in a container.

Group IV, claims 63-70 are drawn to a method of determining the thermogenic effect of a test agent on a sample.

Group V, claim 71 is drawn to a method of screening animals for their ability to respond thermogenically to a test agent in a desired manner.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Inventions recited in Group I-VI are related as defined by different methods that lack the same corresponding special technical feature. The methods are distinct as claimed because they are defined by different technical features with different method steps; different functions; and their effects have different final outcomes. The specific technical features of group I is a method of screening a test agent for its ability to cause a thermodynamic change in a test sample. The technical features of group II monitors the physical state of a compound, thus it is unlike any other group. The technical feature of group III is a method of determining the amount of a compound or composition present in a container; this method has different structural components such as the requirement of a container and determines different properties when compared to the other methods. The technical feature of group IV is a method of determining the thermogenic effect of a test agent on a sample that requires different reagents and amounts, thus the method has different steps. The technical feature of group V is drawn to a method of screening animals for their ability to respond thermogenically to a test agent in a desired manner; which has different steps and final outcome, as compared to the other methods. Thus each group does not relate to a single inventive concept because they lack the same technical feature. The groups have different steps, reagents, functions and outcomes, thus they are deemed distinct. ^{technical features}

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
